Sung to the tune of Last Friday Night by Katy Perry

There's a river called the Nile

It's the longest of its style

Egyptians drank and bathed in it

Got their water from it too

The rivers, how they water crops

It flooded every stankin year

Deserts on the right and left

Sahara's the biggest of its kind

Egyptians were good farmers because they irrigated crops...oh yeah, oh well

Heiroglyphics were complex words using pictures and sounds.....

SHADOOF

Shadoof is a bucket attached to a long pole used to lift water from the Nile

What he said....yeah!!
